

THREE CHAUFFEURS DASH AWAY AFTER FELLING VICTIMS

In Each Case Autos Fail to Stop to Assist Men Hurled to Street.

Between midnight and dawn to-day three men in different parts of the city were run down and severely injured by automobiles, and in each instance the car sped away into the darkness, with no question asked as to the extent of the injuries inflicted.

William F. King, proprietor of the Eagle Hotel, No. 19 Cooper Square, was the first to be injured and his hurts were the most serious. He started to cross the square from his hotel to the opposite sidewalk and had just reached the shaft erected about the mouth of the aqueduct workings there when he heard the drumming of an approaching automobile.

King was unable to see the machine because of the shaft house, and after passing until he believed that the auto had passed he stepped out around the corner of the temporary structure.

A black automobile struck King, hurled him back against the fence about the shaft house and continued on down the Bowery without stop. Policeman Butler, who saw the accident, tried to stop the car but he was not heeded.

HURLED TEN FEET BY SPEEDING MACHINE.

Michael Contant of No. 339 West Twenty-first street was the second victim of the speed fiends. He was crossing Eighth avenue at Twenty-first street on his way home shortly after midnight when a northbound automobile containing several passengers struck him, hurled him ten feet away to the gutter and continued at a little higher speed up the avenue.

A single pedestrian saw the accident, ran to Contant's aid and then summoned a policeman. An ambulance was called from New York Hospital and the injured man was removed there, later to be taken to his home. No trace of the automobile which had hurt him could be found.

Joseph Rossey, driver of a street sweeper in the employ of the Street Cleaning Department, escaped with the slightest injuries, but a dash of the breeze was added to his adventure. Rossey was driving his sweeper down Twenty-fourth street between Broadway and Sixth avenue when an automobile approaching at a high speed collided with the pole of the sweeper. The sweeping machine was veered sharply around and Rossey was thrown from his seat into the tonneau of the auto.

He was stunned for an instant, and when he recovered his senses he found that he was moving rapidly and four men's faces were bending over him. One of them said:

"This ain't got enough free ride. Take mit him."

Whereupon Rossey was picked up and thrown over the side of the auto. He landed against a fire hydrant and was knocked unconscious by the fall. Dr. Cook of the New York Hospital, bound up the cuts on his head and he was taken home.

A pedestrian who had seen the accident managed to get a flash of the number on the auto and now the police are searching for the machine and the four men who were in it.

STRAUS ATTACKS BOSSES.

BATAVIA, Oct. 18.—Oscar S. Straus, Progressive candidate for Governor, made nine speeches yesterday in as many towns in Steuben, Allegany, Livingston and Genesee counties. At Hamilton, Friendship, Cuba and Avon he spoke from the rear platform of his car. The largest of his audiences was at Avon in the early evening. It was 9 o'clock when the special train reached Batavia and Mr. Straus was at once taken to the Odd Fellows' Temple, where a large crowd was waiting him. He spoke for 30 minutes, devoting most of that time to an arraignment of business. He spent the night in his private car and departed at 7:30 A. M. on a trip through the southwestern part of the State.

AUTO WRECKS SWEEPER, THEN SPEEDS AWAY.

Driver Thrown From Running
Board When He Asks Chauffeur to Stop.

A black automobile containing five passengers and, according to the police, bearing the number 1193 N. Y., which is recorded as belonging to Edward Duell of No. 538 Eighth avenue, was speeding along Twenty-fourth street, between Broadway and Sixth avenue at a good rate of speed early to-day when it ran into the team attached to a street sweeper driven by Joseph Rosel, of No. 632 East Sixteenth street. The horses were slightly injured and the sweeper was wrecked. Rosel was thrown from his seat but landed on his feet. Two of the occupants of the car jumped out and pulled the wrecked sweeper away from the auto so that it could go ahead. As it started Rosel jumped on the running board but the chauffeur refused to stop and after about a half a block Rosel was thrown off. His body and knee were bruised and his face cut. He was attended by Dr. Martin of New York Hospital and taken home. Detectives have been put to work on the case.
